

TERM AND HOLIDAY DATES 2011/2012

The term dates set out below are based on a 189 pupil-day academic year in 2011/2012. Five staff training days (INSET) days are included in the year which are in addition to the school holidays. For the 2011/2012 academic year, there will be a reduction from the standard 190 pupil-day year in recognition of the additional bank holiday to mark the Queen's Diamond Jubilee celebrations. This change is to ensure that school staff benefit from the extra bank holiday in parity with other workers.

These dates are those recommended by the Local Government Association (LGA) for adoption by Local Authorities nationally and following consultation have been agreed as Hounslow Authority's recommended school year.

The late May Bank Holiday will be moved to 4th June 2012 and an extra Bank Holiday will be added on 5 June 2012. There will therefore be a total of nine Bank Holidays in England and Wales in 2012. Exams in 2012 will be timetabled in accordance with the change of half term to week commencing 4th June 2012. Both of these changes have been effected through The Education (School Day and School Year) (England) (Amendment) Regulations 2010, Statutory Instrument 604.

It is customary for the first day of term to be designated as an INSET day for all schools. Headteachers will need to designate 4 additional non-teaching staff development (INSET) days which may be allocated as whole day training sessions during non-pupil days. It would be for Headteachers to determine, in consultation with their staff, whether it would be appropriate for one or more of the additional 4 professional days to be allocated more flexibly as twilight sessions. There was no recommendation for any Occasional Days.
